Well who would have guessed that ?

Note:- If anyone has similar Photos they would like
Included in the next issue, feel free to pass them on to one of the band members.

NICKS NIBBLES

Hello there, Nick here again,

Well, the first issue of Tosh Tales seemed to go OK so thanks to all who bought a copy. I've been pleased to have had several comments from people about how they enjoyed reading my bit about how we met Tosh and how the band took shape.

Also, if you read the first issue, you may recall me writing about a new concrete building I've had put up at the bottom of the garden to turn into a recording studio. Well, there's not been an awful lot of progress as yet. I've managed to paint some of the outside, (on a rare occasion when I had some time to spare and it wasn't @*!#@*$* raining!!) and Chris from Shotley has been up and installed some of the pipework for the ventilation system. Other than that, I've done a marvellous job of filling it up with loads of junk & stuff from other parts of the garden that we're sorting out. Still, hopefully I'll get a bit more done to it in the next few months, if only I could think of a way for the company to keep paying me without me actually having to go to work I'd have loads more time to spare!

Bye for now
Nick

VENTING MY SPLEEN

It never ceases to amaze me how people get away with what they do. Take for instance this years Beccles Carnival. On the Sunday night the Carnival committee booked, in good faith, a tribute band for a close to a four figure number. We were booked to support them for a tenth of the price, which is not the reason for this vent, I hasten to add. What is in question is, we actually played all our set live, some of theirs was definitely mimed in places. I must be a fool to have slogged all these years actually playing !!      KEEP MUSIC LIVE !!

Music makes the world go round
Over land and over sea
Original songs and tunes abound
Nice words,good melody
Love songs,Folk songs Country and Pop
Ignites my sense of fun
Good feelings that will never stop
Happy till the day is done

'Tosh and The Moonlighters' are the best Everyone loves their style
Resisting their beat is such a hard quest
So come and see them for a while
Having a Son and Daughter-in -law in this group
Makes me very biased,
But I don't think I am alone in saying
That after a while with the 'Moonlighters'
You can not fail to feel good
They certainly chase the blues away.    By Ruth Durrant
